

DATA GOVERNANCE Consultant Trainee

You have completed your studies in computer science, business informatics or natural sciences and have an affinity for data and IT? You like to work in a team and deal with analyzing complex issues? You like to acquire new skills and explore new opportunities? Then this Traineeship might be of interest for you!

OVERVIEW

As a Data Governance Consultant Trainee, you will conduct a three-month traineeship with the opportunity to continue as a Junior Data Governance Consultant after completing the traineeship successfully.

After the general onboarding, you will learn the major Data Governance concepts. In the meantime, you will get to apply your knowledge in customer projects, where you support the Data Governance Consultants in delivering artefacts as well as preparing and conducting meetings and get to know the everyday-work of a consultant. Additional topics can come up on a need-basis.

The training will include different areas of Data Governance, such as

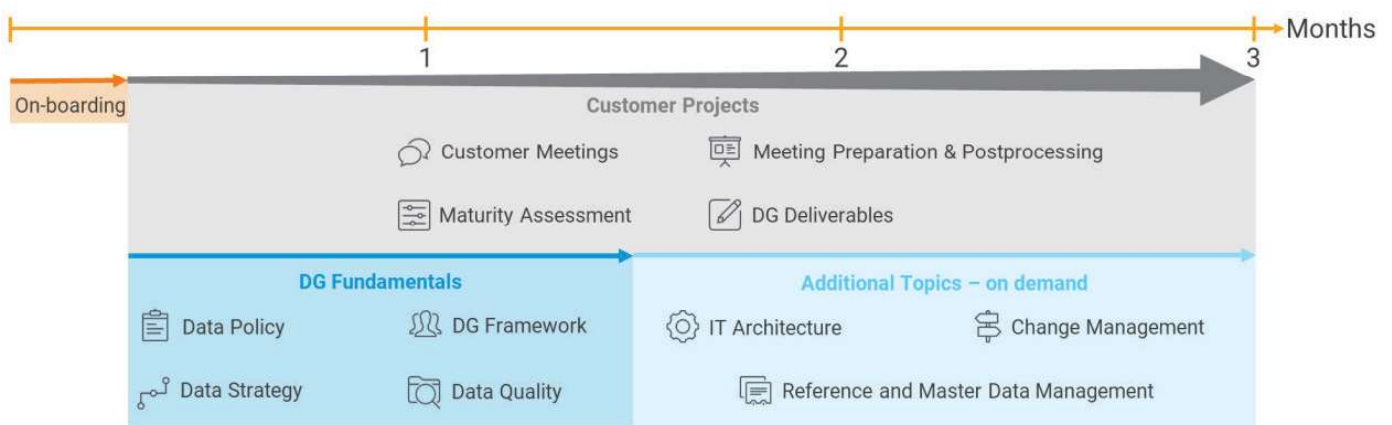

- Data Management
- Data Policies
- Data Strategy
- Organizational Frameworks
- Master Data Management
- Data Quality
- Many more

Your training supervisors will introduce the topics; the further learning will be conducted mostly via self-learning and supporting tasks of actual projects. As part of acquiring communication skills, internal presentations on different topics can be performed as needed. Regular meetings ensure everything is understood and act as a communication tool to address possible obstacles and achievements.

During your Traineeship, you will be part of an international team supporting large life science and pharmaceutical companies on their way to the digital transformation. Responsibilities will include participating in the development and implementing company-wide data strategies and standards as well as supporting the introduction of data governance frameworks.
